

COMPUTER MOUSE

Abstract.

A computer mouse used to control the monitor screen, having only two contacts (the minimum possible contacts). The spherical ball is in touch only with the coordinate shafts. The third contact, necessary for ball stability, is replaced with a magnet which will engage the ball with the coordinate shafts. The magnet will not touch the ball.

[Handwritten signature]

[Handwritten signature]

